DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

For a claim to be statutory under 35 USC 101 the following two conditions must be met:

1) In the claim, the practical application of an algorithm or idea result in a useful, concrete, tangible result, AND

2) The claim provides a limitation in the technological art that enables a useful, concrete, tangible result.

As to the technology requirement, note MPEP Section iV 2(b). Also note In Re Waldbaum, 173USPQ 430 (CCPA 1972) which teaches “useful arts” is synonymous with “technological arts”. In re Musgrave, 167USPQ 280 (CCPA1970), In re Johnston, 183USPQ 172 (CCPA 1974), and In re Toma, 197USPQ 852 (CCPA 1978), all teach a technological requirements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 3628

Claim 2 is vague and indefinite because it is unclear of the term "loan delinquency assumptions".

Claim 5 is vague and indefinite and it is unclear of the term "external forces".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable over Kosiba et al. (US 6,098,052).

Kosiba et al. discloses:

A system and method for visualizing loan collections comprising:

- ↻ generating delinquency moving matrices (20, 36, 44; fig.7);
- ↻ predicting which accounts will roll forward into a next classification of delinquency (figs. 4 & 6; 'predictors');
- ↻ assigning probability distribution to loan delinquency assumptions (col.9, line 60-col.12, line 67);

Art Unit: 3628

- ☞determining a percentage of loan within the probability distributions that will roll forward into a next period of delinquency (col.9, line 60-col.12, line 67; second part, third part of sample points...);
- ☞indicating a number of months an account is delinquent (col.11, line43-col.13, line 67);
- ☞adjusting loan assumptions to account for variations based on external forces (col.9, line 60-col.12, line 67);
- ☞generating matrices for at least one of delinquency, gross value, stock value, roll forward, roll back, amounts due and payment (col.13, line25-67); and
- ☞predicting a portfolio value using the matrices ('model 10').
